Scratch Trash Orchestra
Barking Spider Visual Theatre

In this workshop, students hit the scrap heap to make their own instruments out of just about anything! Using recycled materials to invent all new musical instruments, students will experiment with strings, percussion and basic wind formats before combining their new instruments to devise a wild orchestral music experience.

This innovative workshop covers issues of sustainability, ingenuity and, most of all, good old-fashioned noise! At the end of the workshop, children can take home their new musical creations and begin their very own musical revolution...
